

Stream No. 18 (2 notices)Hawkins Island Cut-off

Width: 12 feet

Depth: 7 inches

Accessible $3/4$ mile.

Fine gravel bottom and wide stream bed in places.

This is the head stream; another stream on east side and back from the head is about the same size, but has a rougher bed.

Sept. 12, 1927: Head stream 945; other stream 200 fish.

(Total 1,145 fish)

Stream No. 19 (2 notices)Cut-off

Width: 50 feet (Measured near grass banks)

Depth: 6 inches ()

Should be accessible for a mile,--probably more.

Has an exceptionally good fine gravel bottom,--greenstone, gray-rock and slate same as others here.

(There is another very small stream here also. Went up this one $1/2$ mile. Fish scarce.)

Sept. 12, 1927: 2,830 fish.

Stream No. 20 (2 notices)Cut-off

Width: 25 feet) Where current is not too fast

Depth: 10 inches)

Accessible about 1 mile; splits at 3,500 feet

(There is another stream 12 feet wide and 6 inches deep)

Bottom is good in both streams. The gravel is coarser than others in the Cut-off, but there is considerable fine mixed with it. The greenstone mixture is missing here.

Sept. 12, 1927: 6,560 fish.

Stream No. 21 (1 notice)Cut-off

Width: 6 feet

Depth: 4 inches

Comes into a lagoon and is accessible 3,300 feet.

Good fine bottom.

Sept 12, 1927: 2,230 fish.